Further Information:

IMPORTANT:

Please fill in everything truthfully, as far as you want. More data can be better and more specifically analysed and a perpetrator group pattern incl. country affiliation (country where the car goes) can be worked out. Of course you can revoke the use at any time by sending an email to info@whereismycar.eu.

This data (except your personal data) is later transferred to a database that uses algorithms to compare, combine, analyse, check for plausibility and establish various patterns and theories.

I will use all necessary means and possibilities to find the possible perpetrator theft groups (OK = organised crime) and bring them to justice!
